SUMMARY OF OUR INDUSTRY

GLOBAL SUPERCOMPUTER MARKET OUTLOOK

The global supercomputer market is projected to increase at an impressive CAGR of 10.5% and hit a valuation of US$ 19 billion by the end of 2033, up from US$ 7 billion in 2023.

In comparison to a general-purpose computer, a supercomputer is a high-performance computer. Supercomputer performance is measured in FLOPS (Floating-Point Operations Per Second) rather than MIPS (Million Instructions Per Second). Supercomputers are employed in computation-intensive and data-intensive technological and scientific applications such as biomechanics, quantum theory, fossil fuel extraction, weather prediction, molecular dynamics, cryptanalysis, nuclear fusion research, and physical simulations.

- The number of supercomputers in the world is growing. China currently possesses 167 of the world's 500 supercomputers, while the United States has 122.

The growing use of supercomputers in the research and development of drugs and increased biotechnology adoption is likely to fuel the market growth during the forecast period. Supercomputers were extensively used to create drugs to combat the COVID-19 pandemic. Supercomputers were employed to scan a massive data volume in a few milliseconds to evaluate the coronavirus's nature and check if any components in existing medications could tackle the virus.

- For example, as part of the European Union-funded EXSCALATE4CoV project in 2020, Sanzio and his Cineca team cooperated with 15 other partners and 24 associated members across Europe. To research the safest coronavirus treatments, the effort brought together four supercomputer platforms in Spain, Germany, and Italy, as well as Europe's leading pharmaceutical corporations and academic institutions. Due to the high-performance computing capacity of supercomputers and the combined capabilities of the project members, the research was completed in a matter of months. The consortium's supercomputers had already examined the interaction of the coronavirus with 400,000 medicinal compounds by the middle of 2020 to see which one could kill the virus and prevent it from growing.
- In November 2020, the two Italian supercomputers, ENI's HPC5 and Cineca's Marconi-100, performed their most challenging work. In approximately 60 hours, they examined over 70 billion medicinal chemicals.

Moreover, major companies' increased efforts in the research and development of supercomputers are bolstering market growth.

- For example, Aurora, a supercomputer created in suburban Chicago by Intel in collaboration with the US Department of Energy's Argonne National Laboratory for AI research, will be two times faster than projected. As per Intel, the computer will be capable of doing two quintillion computations per second.

GLOBAL SERVER & TRENDS

The global server market size is anticipated to reach USD 175.29 billion by 2030, growing at a CAGR of 9.3% from 2023 to 2030, according to the latest study by Grand View Research, Inc. As businesses are moving to private and public clouds, the edge cloud, co-location facilities, and data centers have started utilizing software-defined networks (SDNs) and virtualization to facilitate the implementation of new data analytics models. However, having realized that the incumbent servers cannot handle the complex workloads, server industry players in the region are introducing new server designs with higher computational power.

Newer applications that demand specific configurations and high computing requirements from users and service providers are increasing the adoption of cloud servers for efficient functioning. Enterprises are adopting virtual or cloud servers to enhance their global networking capabilities and cut operational and maintenance costs on their IT infrastructure. Additionally, cloud service providers have to invest significantly in the maintenance of cooling equipment as physical servers dissipate more heat. Due to this, provisions such as renting servers and virtualization have been gaining traction in recent years.

Tower servers are often used for multiple applications, such as communication, network, and file servers. Tower servers are designed to be positioned on or underneath desks. These servers are flexible and easy to upgrade according to customer requirements. Furthermore, their simplicity and robustness favor their adoption across various applications. Moreover, the demand for low-heat and quick-cooling servers is increasing due to the volume of information stored on these servers. These factors are collectively expected to drive the segment during the forecast period.

GLOBAL CLOUD SYSTEM MANAGEMENT OUTLOOK

Cloud System Management Market Size was valued at USD 2.1 billion in 2022. The Cloud System Management market industry is projected to grow from USD 2.34 Billion in 2023 to USD 5.59 billion by 2032, exhibiting a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 11.50% during the forecast period (2023 - 2032). Rapidly implementing virtualized workloads and improved productivity in the workplace are the key market drivers enhancing market growth.

Market CAGR for cloud system management is driven by the rising the increasing demand for cloud services that streamline the administration of heterogeneous cloud infrastructures and the increased popularity of hybrid and multi-cloud strategies among enterprises of all sizes and industries. Increased interest in cloud-based technologies from a wide range of industries is helping to fuel the growth of the cloud systems management software market.

With AIOps capabilities, businesses have access to a plethora of tools for automating their IT operations. Organizations are being encouraged to use AIOps solutions due to their capacity for root cause investigation, anomaly identification, and enhanced actionable insights. Companies that adopt AIOps solutions can foresee potential problems and prepare for them. These products assist businesses avoid the expenses caused with application and infrastructure failures. With the use of AIOps systems, businesses can automation alert distribution, problem tracking, and information-sharing. Additionally, in recent years, many businesses have invested a sizable percentage of their profits in their IT infrastructure.

Additionally, Cost reduction, ease of management, dependability, flexibility, and strategic advantage are just a few ways cloud-based system solutions aid businesses. Also, corporations are hesitant to shift data to the cloud and instead choose on-premises infrastructure to keep critical information due to concerns over privacy and security. There have been many breakthroughs and innovations in cloud computing, but the biggest challenges have been security and interoperability.

INDIAN SERVER MARKET

India Server Market was valued at USD 1602.97 million in 2022 and is expected to register a CAGR of 7.19% during the forecast period, owing to a rapidly increasing investment in Data Centre due to increased usage of cloud services in the country.

In order to stop the spread of COVID-19, India went into lockdown. This led to the country's remote working policy, which has been substantially backed by cloud computing solutions and enables employees to do jobs effectively from any place. On the cloud, such as businesses and governments can effectively handle a lot of data. These cloud services are, however, quite vulnerable to issues such as incorrect storage configuration, insufficient identity and access management safeguards, unsafe application programming interfaces (APIs), data loss, breaches, and leaks. These concerns will increase in importance as more businesses adopt cloud computing models, which is likely to spur development in the installation of suitable servers and the construction of suitable data centers. IoT is one of the most crucial connections for sensor and cloud server communication.

Government Initiatives

To open data centers (servers) in various states, the Indian government is considering a number of projects. For example, the UP-Data Center Policy FY2021 established a target investment of INR 20,000 Crores (USD 2.5 Billion) for the development of the 250MW data center industry. The establishment of data centers (servers) in all state areas will be made possible by this. The way we live is changing quickly as a result of technology and data has evolved into a fundamental requirement for urbanization. With more than 1 billion mobile devices and 45 million internet users, India's data center growth is outpacing that of the rest of the world. As a result of this initiative, other parts of India will start investing in the production of servers, which will drive the expansion of the country's server market.

Our Company, as per the Restated standalone audited financial statement as on September 30, 2023 has provided commitments through bank guarantee to our clients for a sum of ₹ 260.53 lakhs in respect to the assignments taken by our company. This would mean that we would have to pay off the compensation, which would impact our cash flows and financial position.

If any default commits by our company, it may affect our business. Additionally, this could lead to a deterioration in our relationship with the banks extending the loan to our company, making it harder for us to secure loans in the future. This could, in turn, impact our ability to raise capital and grow our business in the long run.

- 2. Our lenders have charged over our movable properties and book debts in respect of finance availed by us.

We have provided security in respect of cash credit facilities and bank guarantees availed by us for ₹ 1,250.00 Lakh from the bank by creating a charge over present and future Equipment and Machinery, Inventories, Inventories Receivables, Book debts and on Fixed Deposit of the company. The total amount outstanding and payable by our company as cash credit are ₹ 65.97 lakhs as on September 30, 2023. In the event of default in repayment of the loans / facilities availed by company and any interest thereof, the properties may be subject to forfeiture by lenders, which in turn could have significant adverse effect on business, financial condition or results of operations. For further details of secured loans of our Company, please refer the chapter titled Financial Statements on page 225 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

- 3. Our top five clients contribute approximately 41.35 %, 37.93% and 32.91% of our revenues from operations for the year ended March 31, 2023, March 31, 2022 and March 31, 2021 respectively. Any loss of business from one or more of them may adversely affect our revenues and profitability.

Our top five clients are responsible for a significant portion of our revenue, contributing approximately 41.35 %, 37.93% and 32.91% of our revenues from operations for the year ended March 31, 2023, March 31, 2022 and March 31, 2021 respectively. While this concentration poses risks, such as potential adverse effects from declining quality standards, increased competition, or changes in customer demand, we acknowledge the dynamic nature of our client base.

As we continuously strive to attract new clients as part of our regular business activities, the composition and revenue distribution from these clients may evolve over time. 6. Our Company has availed ₹ 671.62 Lakh as unsecured loan which are repayable on demand. Any demand from the lenders for repayment of such unsecured loan may affect our financial condition.

Our Company has, as per the restated standalone audited financial statement, availed total sum of ₹ 671.62 Lakh unsecured loan from Financial Institutions, Body Corporates and the Promoters which may be recalled at any time. Sudden recall may disrupt our operations and also may force us to opt for funding at unviable terms resulting in higher financial burden. Further, we will not be able to raise funds at short notice and thus result in shortage of fund. For further details, please refer to the Note -1.5: Restated Standalone Statement of Short-term Borrowings on page 236 of this Draft Red- Herring Prospectus. To increase our revenue and cash flows, we must regularly add new clients. If we are unable to generate sufficient sales leads through our marketing programs, or if our existing or new clients do not perceive our services to be of sufficiently high value and quality, we may not be able to increase sales and our operating results would be adversely affected. In addition, our existing clients have no obligation to repeat contracts / new projects to us due to various factors including client's satisfaction with our services, collection of data and information as desired by our clients, our prices and the prices of competing service providers. 8. If we are unable to successfully protect our computer systems from security risks, our business could suffer.

Our customer agreements require us to meet certain security obligations, such as maintaining network security, backing up data, ensuring networks are virus-free, and protecting the credentials of employees who work with our customers. We cannot guarantee that all of these obligations can be fulfilled, and we do not assume any responsibility. Although we implement industry-standard security measures, our network may still be vulnerable to unauthorized access, computer viruses, and other destructive problems. Parties that are able to circumvent our security measures may misuse confidential information and cause disruption to our operations. Defending against threatening security breaches or mitigating problems caused by such breaches may require the expenditure of significant capital and other resources. There is no assurance that the measures taken will not be circumvented in the future.

9. We are engaged in industry of Information Technology which is the fastest evolving industry in the world, (risk of obsolescence in current technology).

Our sales revenue is reliant on the sale of IT products and services within a highly fragmented and competitive industry. Any potential downturn or a discrepancy between demand and supply in the market could have adverse effects on our business operations. Additionally, failure to keep pace with the latest technological developments in the industry may negatively impact our sales revenue and overall business performance.

10. The property used by the Company for the purpose of its operations is owned by our Promoter. Any termination of the relevant rent agreement in connection with such property or our failure to renew the same could adversely affect our operations.

Our Registered Office is presently located at D-147 Okhla Industrial Area Phase 1, South Delhi, New Delhi – 110020. The said premises where our registered office, corporate office and warehouse are located are not owned by our Company. The premises were taken on lease from our Promoter, Mr. Santosh Kumar Agrawal on a monthly rental basis. The registered office is taken on lease for a period of 11 months commenced from October 1st, 2023 to August 31, 2024. Any termination of the relevant rent agreement in connection with such property or our failure to renew the same could adversely affect our operations.

11. Our Company has in the past entered into related party transactions and may continue to do so in the future. There can be no assurance that such transactions, individually or in the aggregate, will not have an adverse effect on our Company's financial condition and results of operations.

As on September 30, 2023, we have entered into related party transactions with our Promoter, Directors and Group Companies. Whilst these related party transactions have been disclosed in our Financial Statements as per AS-18, and we believe that all such transactions have been conducted on an arms-length basis, we cannot assure you that we may not have achieved more favourable terms had such transactions been entered into with unrelated parties. There can be no assurance that such transactions, individually or in the aggregate, will not have an adverse effect on our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition, including because of potential conflicts of interest or otherwise. For further details kindly refer to the chapter titled ‘Financial Statements’ beginning on page 232 of this DRHP.

12. Failure to effectively safeguard our computer systems against security risks could have detrimental consequences for our business.

Our client contracts require us to comply with certain security obligations, including maintenance of network security, back-up of data, ensuring our network is virus-free and ensuring the credentials of those employees who work with our clients. We cannot assure that we will be able to comply with all these obligations and not incur any liability. Further, while we have implemented industry-standard security measures, our network may still be vulnerable to unauthorized access, computer viruses and other disruptive problems. A party that is able to circumvent security measures could misappropriate proprietary information and cause interruptions in our operations. We may be required to expend significant capital or other resources to protect against the threat of security breaches or to alleviate problems caused by such breaches. There can be no assurance that any measures implemented will not be circumvented in the future.

13. If we unable to attract and retain highly skilled IT professionals, we may not have the necessary resources to properly staff projects, and failure to successfully compete for such IT professionals could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business depends largely on the contributions of our IT professionals and our ability to retain qualified IT professionals. The competition for highly-skilled IT professionals may require us to increase salaries, and we may be unable to pass on these increased costs to our clients. This would increase our operational costs which may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our failure to attract, train and retain IT professionals with the qualifications necessary to fulfil the needs of our existing and future customers or to assimilate new IT professionals successfully could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. Moreover, we may be unable to manage knowledge developed internally, which may be lost in the event of our inability to retain employees.

14. We require certain registrations and permits to operate our business, and failure to obtain them in a timely manner or maintain the statutory and regulatory permits and approvals required to operate our business may adversely affect our operations and financial conditions.

Our Company is not in possession of Fire NOC in respect of our registered office, corporate office and warehouses. Upon cognizance being taken by the appropriate authority, the Company and its officers in default may face penalties and/or prosecution under the extant provisions, which could have an adverse impact on our business, results of operations and cash flows. However, our company has applied for the application for the fire NOC. For details regarding pending approvals, please refer to section titled “Government and Other Approvals” beginning on page 274 of the Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

15. We might be required to use open-source software in providing services to our clients. There are risks associated with the use of open-source software and may have an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

In the course of providing services to our clients, it is possible that our company may need to incorporate open-source software. Additionally, some of our clients might also use open-source software that our products and services must be compatible with. The use of open-source software presents both significant benefits and risks.

When acquiring a commercial closed-source solution for enterprise use, there is a meticulous procedure involved, including requirement analysis, defining acceptance criteria, product evaluation, and consideration of security aspects. However, open-source products might not undergo the same level of evaluation and scrutiny. This could potentially expose us to business and security risks, leading to unforeseen costs and potentially adverse effects on our results of operations and financial condition.

16. Our insurance coverage may not be adequate to protect us against certain operating hazards and this may have a material adverse effect on our business.

We have obtained a number of insurance policies in connection with our operations as given in chapter titled “Our Business” on page 141 of the Draft Red Herring Prospectus. While we believe that these policies are reasonably sufficient to cover the typical risks associated with our business, we cannot guarantee that all claims under these policies will be fully or promptly honoured. It is possible that certain circumstances may not be adequately covered, as the policies have deductibles, exclusions, and coverage limits.

Furthermore, our insurance coverage is subject to expiration, and we regularly apply for renewals as part of our standard business practice. However, we cannot assure you that these renewals will be granted in a timely manner, at acceptable costs, or even at all.

In the unfortunate event of a loss or damage that is not covered by insurance, exceeds our insurance coverage, or if our insurance claims are rejected, we would be responsible for bearing the costs. Consequently, our Financial Results, Cash Flows, and overall financial condition may be adversely affected.

17. There are certain discrepancies and non-compliances noticed in some of our corporate records relating to forms filed with the Registrar of Companies, taxation authorities and other public authorities.

In the past, there have been some instances of delays in filing statutory forms with the RoC which includes Form CHG-1, Form-AOC-4, Form MGT-14, Form DIR-12, Form PAS-3, GSTR-1 and EPFO returns with the additional fees. Also, we have delayed in filing few of our GST returns, TDS Returns, EPF returns with the concerned offices on several instances and have accordingly been subjected to penalty and charged with interest for delayed deposit of tax on various instances as well.

Further with the expansion of our operations there can be no assurance that deficiencies in our internal controls and compliances will not arise, or that we will be able to implement, and continue to maintain, adequate measures to rectify or mitigate any such deficiencies in our internal controls, in a timely manner or at all.

18. Our success depends largely upon the services of our Promoter and other Key Managerial Personnel and our ability to retain them. Our inability to attract and retain key managerial personnel may adversely affect the operations of our Company.

Our success largely depends on the continued services and performance of our Management and other Key Personnels. The loss of service of the Promoter and other Senior Management could seriously impair the ability to continue to manage and expand the Business efficiently. Further, the loss of any of the Senior Management or other Key Personnels may adversely affect the operations, finances and profitability of our Company. Any failure or inability of our Company to efficiently retain and manage its human resources would adversely affect our ability to implement new projects and expand our Business.

19. Our revenues and expenses are difficult to predict and can vary significantly from period to period, which could cause our share price to decline.

The economic environment, pricing pressure and decreased employee utilization rates could negatively impact our revenues and operating results. In the event that the Government of India or the government of another country changes its tax policies in a manner that is adverse to us, our tax expense may materially increase, reducing our profitability.

20. Our business is subject to evolving laws regarding privacy, data protection, and other related matters. Many of these laws are subject to change and could result in claims, changes to our business practices, monetary penalties, increased cost of operations, or declines in user growth or engagement, or otherwise which may harm our business.

We are subject to Laws and Regulations that involve matters, including privacy and data protection, content, intellectual property, data security, data retention and deletion, protection of personal information, electronic contracts and other communications. The introduction of new products or expansion of our activities may subject us to additional laws and regulations.

These Laws and Regulations are constantly evolving and can be subject to significant change. As a result, the application, interpretation, and enforcement of these Laws and Regulations are often uncertain, particularly in the new and rapidly evolving industry in which we operate and may be interpreted and applied inconsistently with our current policies and practices. Proposed legislation and regulations could also significantly affect our business. Any changes in existing and proposed Laws and Regulations, could be costly to comply with and can delay or impede the development of new products and may also result in increase in our operating costs.

21. Incorrect or improper implementation or use of our software or inability of our platform to integrate with third-party software or hardware could result in customer dissatisfaction and negatively affect our business, operations, financial results and growth prospects.

Our software is deployed in a wide variety of complex technology environments, and we believe our future success will depend on our ability to increase sales of our software subscriptions for use in such deployments. Our platform must also integrate with a variety of operating systems, software applications and hardware developed by others. We often assist our customers in achieving successful implementations for large, complex deployments. If we or our customers are unable to implement our software successfully or are unable to do so in a timely manner, or if we are unable to devote the necessary resources to ensure that our solutions interoperate with other software, systems and hardware, customer perceptions of our Company may be impaired, our reputation and brand may suffer and customers may choose not to increase their use of our software.

22. Disruption of operations at our software development facilities may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our software development facilities are subject to operational risks, such as the breakdown or failure of equipment, power supply or processes, technology obsolescence, labour disputes, natural disasters and breakout of fires. The occurrence of any of these risks could significantly affect our business and results of operations. Although we continue to take precautions to minimise the risk of any significant operational problems at these facilities, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected by any disruption of operations at any of these facilities.

23. Changes in technology may render our current technologies obsolete or require us to make substantial capital investments.

Our business is entirely dependent on technology, Modernisation and technology up gradation is essential to reduce costs and increase the output. Our technology intricacies may become obsolete or may not be upgraded timely, hampering our operations and financial conditions and we may not have the competitive edge. Although we strive to keep our technology and equipment's in line with the latest technological standards, we may be required to implement new technology or upgrade the equipment 's installed by us. Further, the costs in upgrading our technology and modernizing the equipment 's installed may be significant which could substantially affect our finances and operations.

24. Significant disruptions in our information technology systems or breaches of data security could adversely affect our business and reputation.

We may also face cyber threats such as: (i) Phishing and Trojans - targeting our customers, wherein fraudsters send unsolicited codes or mails to our customers seeking account sensitive information or to infect custom machines to search and attempt ex-filtration of account sensitive information; (ii) Hacking – wherein attackers seek to hack into our infrastructure with the primary intention of causing reputational damage to us by disrupting services; (iii) Data theft – This can be internal i.e., by someone who has access to data of our Company or external wherein unconnected cyber criminals may attempt to intrude into our network with the intention of stealing our data or information; and (iv) Advanced persistent threat – a network attack in which an unauthorized person gains access to our network and remains undetected for a long period of time in the event of a significant decline in the demand for our products, our business, results of operations and financial condition may be materially and adversely affected.

Any such security breaches or compromises of technology systems could result in institution of legal proceedings against us and potential imposition of penalties, which may have an adverse effect on our business and reputation.

25. We face strong competition from onshore and offshore IT services companies, and increased competition, our inability to compete successfully against competitors, pricing pressures or loss of market share could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The market for IT services that we operate in is highly competitive, and we expect competition to persist and intensify. We believe that the principal competitive factors in our markets are reputation and track record, industry expertise, breadth and depth of software products offerings, quality of the software products offered, language, marketing and selling skills, scalability of infrastructure, ability to address customers' timing requirements and price.

We face competition from offshore IT services providers in emerging outsourcing destinations with low wage costs or with a more favourable time zone for US customers as well as competition from large, global consulting and outsourcing firms and in-house IT departments of large corporations. Customers tend to engage multiple IT services providers instead of using an exclusive IT services provider, which could reduce our revenues to the extent that customers obtain services from other competing IT services providers. Customers may prefer IT services providers that have more locations or that are based in countries more cost-competitive or in a more favourable time zone than India.

Our ability to compete successfully also depends in part on a number of factors beyond our control, including the ability of our competitors to recruit and retain highly-skilled IT professionals, the price at which our competitors offer comparable services and our competitors' responsiveness to customer needs. Some of our present and potential competitors may have substantially greater financial, marketing or technical resources. If our competitors develop and implement methodologies that yield greater efficiency and productivity, they may be able to offer similar services at lower prices than we do without adversely affecting their profit margins. Our current and potential competitors may also be able to respond more quickly to new technologies or processes and changes in customer demands; may be able to devote greater resources towards the development, promotion and sale of their services than we can; and may also make strategic acquisitions or establish cooperative relationships among themselves or with third parties that increase their ability to address the needs of our customers. Buying patterns may change if customers become more price sensitive and accepting of low-cost suppliers. Therefore, we cannot assure you that we will be able to retain our customers while competing against such competitors. Increased competition, our inability to compete successfully, pricing pressures or loss of market share could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

26. Our business requires us to obtain and renew certain registrations, licenses and permits from government and regulatory authorities and the failure to obtain and renew them in a timely manner may adversely affect our business operations.

Our business operations require us to obtain and renew from time to time, certain approvals, licenses, registrations and permits, some of which may expire and for which we may have to make an application for obtaining the approval or its renewal. We will be applying for certain approvals relating to our business. If we fail to maintain such registrations and licenses or comply with applicable conditions, or a regulatory authority claims we have not complied, with these conditions, our certificate of registration for carrying on a particular activity may be suspended and/or cancelled and we will not then be able to carry on such activity. This could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations. We cannot assure you that we will be able to obtain approvals in respect of such applications or any application made by us in the future. For more information about the licenses required in our business and the licenses and approvals applied for, please refer “Government and Other Approvals” on page 274 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, respectively.

27. Our Promoters and members of the Promoter Group will continue jointly to retain majority control over our Company even after the Issue which will allow them to determine the outcome of matters submitted to shareholders for approval.

Post this Issue, our Promoters and Promoter Group will collectively own 64.94% of our post issue equity share capital. As a result, our Promoters, together with the members of the Promoter Group, will continue to exercise a significant degree of influence over the Company and will be able to control the outcome of any proposal that can be approved by a majority shareholder vote, including, the election of members to our Board, in accordance with the Companies Act, 2013 and our Articles of Association. Such a concentration of ownership may also have the effect of delaying, preventing or deterring a change in control of our Company. In addition, our Promoters will continue to have the ability to cause us to take actions that are not in, or may conflict with, our interests or the interests of some or all of our creditors or other shareholders and we cannot assure you that such actions will not have an adverse effect on our future financial performance or the price of our Equity Shares.

28. The average cost of acquisition of Equity Shares by our Promoters could be lower than the issue price.

Any such future conflicts could have a material adverse effect on our reputation, business, results of operations and financial condition which may adversely affect our profitability and results of operations.

34. We have not made any dividend payments in the past and our ability to pay dividends in the future will depend upon future earnings, financial condition, cash flows, working capital requirements, capital expenditures and restrictive covenants in our financing arrangements.

In the past, we have not made dividend payments to the shareholders of our Company. The amount of our future dividend payments, if any, will depend upon various factors including our future earnings, financial condition, cash flows and requirement to fund operations and expansion of the business. There can be no assurance that we will be able to declare dividends. Any future determination as to the declaration and payment of dividends will be at the discretion of our Board of Directors. For further details, please refer “Dividend Policy” on page 177 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

Hence, we have not appointed any monitoring agency to monitor the utilization of Issue proceeds. However, the audit committee of our Board will monitor the utilization of Issue proceeds in terms of SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015. Prior to this Issue, there has been no public market for our Equity Shares. [●] is acting as Market Maker for the Equity Shares of our Company. In addition, if the stock markets experience a loss of investor confidence, the trading price of our Equity Shares could decline for reasons unrelated to our business, financial condition or operating results. The trading price of our Equity Shares might also decline in reaction to events that affect other companies in our industry even if these events do not directly affect us. Further, our market price may also be adversely affected even if there is a perception or belief that such sales of Equity Shares might occur. The deployment of funds in the project is entirely at our discretion, based on the parameters as mentioned in the chapter titles “Objects of the Issue”.*

The fund requirement and deployment, as mentioned in the “Objects of the Issue” on page 72 of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus is based on the estimates of our management and has not been appraised by any bank or financial institution or any other independent agency. These fund requirements are based on our current business plan. We cannot assure that the current business plan will be implemented in its entirety or at all. In view of the highly competitive and dynamic nature of our business, we may have to revise our business plan from time to time and consequently these fund requirements. The deployment of the funds as stated under chapter “Objects of the Issue” is at the discretion of our Board of Directors and is not subject to monitoring by any external independent agency. Further, we cannot assure that the actual costs or schedule of implementation as stated under chapter “Objects of the Issue” will not vary from the estimated costs or schedule of implementation. EXTERNAL RISK FACTORS

42. Changes in government regulations or their implementation could disrupt our operations and adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Our business and industry are regulated by different laws, rules and regulations framed by the Central and State Government. These regulations can be amended/ changed on a short notice at the discretion of the Government. If we fail to comply with all applicable regulations or if the regulations governing our business or their implementation change adversely, we may incur increased costs or be subject to penalties, which could disrupt our operations and adversely affect our business and results of operations.

43. You may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of capital gains on the sale of the Equity Shares.

Under current Indian tax laws, capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares within 12 months in an Indian company are classified as short-term capital gains and generally taxable. Any gain realized on the sale of listed equity shares on a stock exchange that are held for more than 12 months is considered as long-term capital gains and is taxable at 10%, in excess of Rs.1,00,000. Any long-term gain realized on the sale of equity shares, which are sold other than on a recognized stock exchange and on which no STT has been paid, is also subject to tax in India. Capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares are exempt from taxation in India where an exemption from taxation in India is provided under a treaty between India and the country of which the seller is resident. Generally, Indian tax treaties do not limit India's ability to impose tax on capital gains. As a result, residents of other countries may be liable to pay tax in India as well as in their own jurisdiction on a gain on the sale of equity shares.

44. Taxes and other levies imposed by the Government of India or other State Governments, as well as other financial policies and regulations, may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Taxes and other levies imposed by the Central or State Governments in India that affect our industry include custom duties on imports of raw materials and components, Goods and Service. These taxes and levies affect the cost and prices of our products and therefore demand for our product. An increase in any of these taxes or levies, or the imposition of new taxes or levies in the future, may have a material adverse effect on our business, profitability and financial condition.

45. Political instability or a change in economic liberalization and deregulation policies could seriously harm business and economic conditions in India generally and our business in particular.

The Government of India has traditionally exercised and continues to exercise influence over many aspects of the economy. Our business and the market price and liquidity of our Equity Shares may be affected by interest rates, changes in Government policy, taxation, social and civil unrest and other political, economic or other developments in or affecting India. The rate of economic liberalization could change, and specific laws and policies affecting the information technology sector, foreign investment and other matters affecting investment in our securities could change as well. Any significant change in such liberalization and deregulation policies could adversely affect business and economic conditions in India, generally, and our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations, in particular.

Further, there is no assurance that they are stated or compiled on the same basis or with the same degree of accuracy, as the case may be, elsewhere.

47. Global economic, political and social conditions may harm our ability to do business, increase our costs and negatively affect our stock price.

Global economic and political factors that are beyond our control, influence forecasts and directly affect performance. These factors include interest rates, rates of economic growth, fiscal and monetary policies of governments, inflation, deflation, foreign exchange fluctuations, consumer credit availability, fluctuations in commodities markets, consumer debt levels, unemployment trends and other matters that influence consumer confidence, spending and tourism. Increasing volatility in financial markets may cause these factors to change with a greater degree of frequency and magnitude, which may negatively affect our stock prices.

48. Foreign investors are subject to foreign investment restrictions under Indian law that limits our ability to attract foreign investors, which may adversely impact the market price of the Equity Shares.

Under the foreign exchange regulations currently in force in India, transfer of shares between non- residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions) if they comply with the pricing guidelines and reporting requirements specified by the RBI. If the transfer of shares, which are sought to be transferred, is not in compliance with such pricing guidelines or reporting requirements or fall under any of the exceptions referred to above, then the prior approval of the RBI will be required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert the Rupee proceeds from a sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India will require a no objection/ tax clearance certificate from the income tax authority. There can be no assurance that any approval required from the RBI or any other government agency can be obtained on any particular terms or at all.

49. The extent and reliability of Indian infrastructure could adversely affect our Company’s results of operations and financial condition.

India’s physical infrastructure is in developing phase compared to that of many developed nations. Any congestion or disruption in its port, rail and road networks, electricity grid, communication systems or any other public facility could disrupt our Company’s normal business activity. Any deterioration of India’s physical infrastructure would harm the national economy, disrupt the transportation of goods and supplies, and add costs to doing business in India. These problems could interrupt our Company’s business operations, which could have an adverse effect on its results of operations and financial condition.

50. Any downgrading of India's sovereign rating by an independent agency may harm our ability to raise financing.

Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by international rating agencies may adversely impact our ability to raise additional financing, and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing may be available. This could have an adverse effect on our business and future financial performance, our ability to obtain financing for capital expenditures and the trading price of our Equity Shares.

51. Natural calamities could have a negative impact on the Indian economy and cause our Company's business to suffer.

India has experienced natural calamities such as earthquakes, tsunami, floods etc. in recent years. The extent and severity of these natural disasters determine their impact on the Indian economy. Prolonged spells of abnormal rainfall or other natural calamities could have a negative impact on the Indian economy, which could adversely affect our business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations as well as the price of the Equity Shares.

52. Terrorist attacks, civil unrests and other acts of violence or war involving India or other countries could adversely affect the financial markets, our business, financial condition and the price of our Equity Shares.

Any major hostilities involving India or other acts of violence, including civil unrest or similar events that are beyond our control, could have a material adverse effect on India's economy and our business. Incidents such as the terrorist attacks in India, other incidents such as those in US, Russia, Ukraine, Indonesia, Madrid, London and other acts of violence may adversely affect the Indian stock markets where our Equity Shares will trade as well the global equity markets generally. Such acts could negatively impact business sentiment as well as trade between countries, which could adversely affect our Company's business and profitability. Additionally, such events could have a material adverse effect on the market for securities of Indian companies, including the Equity Shares.

Detailed rationale for increase in working capital requirement

The reasons for increase in working capital requirement in Half yearly ended September 30, 2023 as compared with FY 23.

Increase in working capital requirement was fueled by business growth which has led to Increase in sales as this half year, the company have achieved sales of ₹ 7127.78 Lakh. If it continues to grow at same rate we might achieve sales of around ₹14,000 lakhs. Higher sales require higher inventory levels which is supported by the fact our inventory levels have increase by 59.53 % to ₹ 1,366.99 Lakh from ₹ 856.96 Lakh. This half year was fueled by robust Government sales which accounted for around 34% of total sales, Government sales have long collection period this has led to 2-fold increase in trade receivables from ₹ 1,258.74 Lakh to ₹ 2,575.84 Lakh which leads to increase working capital requirement.

The reasons for increase in working capital requirement in FY 23 as compared with FY 22

One of the main reasons is increase in sales from ₹ 6,856.29 Lakh in the F.Y 21-22 to ₹ 9,465.96 Lakh in the F.Y 22-23 which is 38% increase in the value of sales in the F.Y 22-23, that has necessitated a higher level of inventory which has increased from ₹ 585.51 Lakh in the F.Y 20-21 to ₹ 856.96 Lakh in the F.Y 21-22 which is 46.36% increase in the value of inventories in the F.Y 21-22. During the fiscal year, another contributing factor to the increase the working capital was the booking of a prepaid expense amounting to ₹ 3 crore. This expense was incurred in the F.Y 22-23 but was billed periodically in the subsequent F.Y 23-24.

Furthermore, the trade payable of the company was decreased from ₹ 1,455.22 Lakh in the F.Y 21-22 to ₹ 1,004.63 which is 30.96% decrease in the value of trade payables in the F.Y 21-22.

The reasons for increase in working capital requirement in FY 22 as compared with FY 21

One of the primary drivers for augmented working capital requirement is increase in our sales volume triggered by robust demand for our products which has led to increase in sales volume from ₹ 4,411.89 Lakh in F.Y 20-21 to ₹ 6,856.29 Lakh F.Y 21-22 which is 55.40% increase in the value of sales as compared to F.Y 21-22. There is also trade receivable has increased from ₹ 865.31 Lakh in the F.Y 20-21 to ₹ 1,546.27 Lakh in the F.Y 21-22 which is 78.70% increase in the value of trade receivables due to favorable credit terms in certain orders to increase the sales of the company. Correspondingly trade payable have increased from ₹ 875.67 Lakh in the F.Y 20-21 to ₹ 1,455.22 Lakh in the F.Y 21-22 which is 66.18% increase in the value of payables as compared to F.Y 20-21. The increase in the trade payables (+66.18%) are not in tune with increase in the trade receivables (+77.16%), hence increased the need for working capital.

Assumption of Holding Levels

Provided below are details of the holding levels (days) considered.

Particulars	2021	2022	2023	For the period of September 30, 2023	2024 (Estimated)	2025 (Estimated)
Inventory	58.5	37.8	35.9	72.2	51.1	54.0
Trade Receivables	71.6	64.2	54.1	98.2	72.0	61.0
Trade Payables	87.4	75.3	61.2	104	82.0	64.0
Working Capital Gap	42.7	26.8	28.8	66.3	41.0	51.0

Justification for holding period levels.

Particular	Assumptions made and justification
Current Assets
Inventory	The inventory holding period is maintained in the range of 35.9 days to 58.5 days which meets the requirements of business activities projected for the fiscals 2024 and 2025.
Trade Receivables	Decreasing trend: The decreasing number of days for trade receivables, from 71.6 days in 2021 to 64.2 days in 2022 and further to 54.1 days in 2023, indicates the company's efforts to improve its collection process and credit management. Improved efficiency: The assumption of 72 days in 2024 suggests Esconet Technologies Limited's continued focus on enhancing cash flow by reducing the time taken to collect receivables.
Current Liabilities
Trade Payables	The decreasing trend in the number of days for trade payables, from 87.4 in 2021 to 75.3 in 2022, 61.2 in 2023, suggests Esconet Technologies Limited is paying slightly early to their suppliers to negotiate better price from them and thereby increasing their own profit margins. Hence, the payable days are decreasing thereby making the increase in requirement of working capital.

Current Capacity and Constraints:

Zeacloud is currently facing an infrastructure challenge as its data centers in Noida and Mumbai are rapidly approaching their capacity limits. In Noida, the data center is operating at 392 out of 492 cores, and in Mumbai, it's at 92 out of 102 cores. Additionally, the Data Domain Backup Appliance is nearing full utilization. This situation raises concerns about the company's ability to efficiently manage and safeguard data for existing clients while posing a significant hurdle to accommodating new customers.

Compounding these challenges is the absence of Object Storage, a fundamental component for scalable and flexible data management. The lack of Object Storage not only hampers the current operational efficiency but also limits Zeacloud's capability to seamlessly expand its services to new customers who require immediate and extensive cloud resources. Object Storage is pivotal for handling the diverse storage needs of clients, and addressing this gap is crucial for sustaining and growing the company's cloud offerings.

Furthermore, the constraint on Internet Bandwidth exacerbates the situation. In an era where fast and reliable connectivity is paramount, limited Internet Bandwidth not only impacts the performance of Zeacloud's services but also impedes the rapid onboarding of new customers seeking large-scale cloud solutions. This bottleneck in bandwidth availability is a bottleneck that needs immediate attention to ensure a seamless and competitive cloud service offering.

To navigate these challenges successfully, Zeacloud must consider strategic interventions. This may involve expanding the capacity of existing data centers, investing in additional computing resources, implementing robust Object Storage solutions, and enhancing Internet Bandwidth capabilities. By addressing these limitations comprehensively, Zeacloud not only meet the growing demands of its current clientele but also position itself as a reliable and scalable cloud service provider capable of swiftly accommodating the dynamic needs of new customers seeking immediate and extensive cloud services.

This strategic move serves a dual purpose: establishing a secure backup repository and introducing a cutting-edge Object Storage service. This not only fortifies our data backup capabilities but also positions us as a leading provider of advanced and versatile Object Storage solutions for our clientele.
- Network Infrastructure: In a proactive upgrade, we are retiring end-of-life Cisco Nexus switches and adopting the latest 25Gbps and 10Gbps models. This strategic move guarantees ongoing software support, while simultaneously fortifying our network security. This forward-looking enhancement not only ensures the longevity of our infrastructure but also positions us at the forefront of cutting-edge technology for robust and secure operations.
- Monitoring and Security Software: Our Company will make a strategic investment in developing in-house Log Management and Analytics, as well as Privilege Access Management software. This forward-thinking initiative is geared towards elevating our overall security posture while concurrently mitigating costs associated with outsourcing these critical services. By bringing these capabilities in-house, we not only enhance our control over security measures but also optimize operational expenditures, marking a pivotal step towards a more resilient and cost-effective security framework.
- Managed Power Distribution Units: Our Company will implement state-of-the-art managed Power Distribution Units (PDUs) to facilitate remote power management and enable precise customer billing. This strategic deployment not only enhances operational efficiency by allowing seamless remote power control but also ensures accurate and transparent billing for our valued customers. It reflects our commitment to leveraging cutting-edge technology for superior service delivery and cost-effectiveness.

Financial Implication:

The total investment required for the above enhancements is estimated at ₹ 250.00 lakhs. This investment is projected to not only expand Zeacloud's capacity but also streamline operations, enhance security, and provide immediate service to potential clients, thereby increasing our revenue potential.

GLOBAL ECONOMIC OUTLOOK IN FIVE CHARTS

The global economy is set to slow substantially in 2023. The lagged and current effects of monetary tightening, as well as more restrictive credit conditions, are expected to weigh on activity in the second half of the year, with weakness persisting into 2024. Excluding China, growth in emerging market and developing economies (EMDEs) is set to decline markedly, with the outlook weakest in countries with elevated fiscal and financial vulnerabilities. The resurgence of recent banking sector turmoil represents a serious risk. Widespread financial stress could have especially severe economic consequences.

1. Global growth is slowing

The global economy is forecast to slow substantially this year, with a pronounced deceleration in advanced economies. Monetary tightening is expected to have its peak impact this year for many major economies. Global growth is forecast to decline to 2.1 percent in 2023, a full percentage point less than in 2022, before a tepid recovery to 2.4 percent in 2024. In emerging market and developing economies (EMDEs) excluding China, growth is projected to fall to 2.9 percent in 2023, from 4.1 percent in 2022, as tight global financial conditions and subdued external demand weigh on activity. Global growth could weaken more than anticipated in the event of further financial sector stress, or if persistent inflation prompts tighter-than-expected monetary policy.

2. Monetary policy will weigh on growth this year and next

The substantial near-term deceleration expected in advanced economies is mainly due to the lagged effects of the sharp rise in policy rates over the past year and a half, aimed at reining in high inflation. Tight monetary policy in the United States, in particular, can adversely affect EMDEs in several ways. It slows the U.S. economy, which reduces demand for EMDE exports, and tends to lead to higher interest rates in EMDEs.

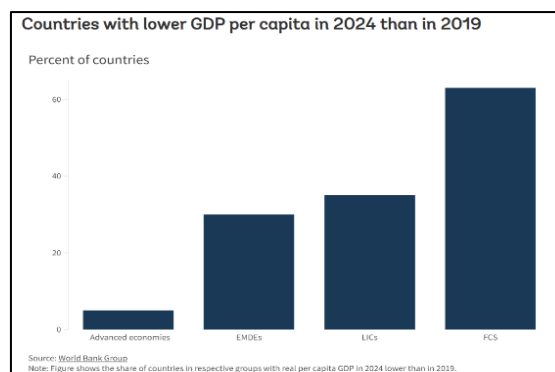

3. Restrictive financial conditions pose severe challenges for vulnerable EMDEs

The majority of EMDEs have so far withstood global monetary tightening with limited financial stress. However, in EMDEs with pronounced vulnerabilities (as reflected by low credit ratings) sovereign risk spreads have widened sharply, domestic currencies have depreciated, and already-limited fiscal space has dwindled further. Growth projections for these economies have been revised markedly lower, to less than 1 percent in 2023.

4. The pandemic recovery remains weak

In per capita terms, the latest forecasts suggest a weak recovery from the overlapping shocks of the past three years. Nearly a third of EMDEs, including two-thirds of countries in fragile and conflict-affected situations, are expected to have lower per capita incomes in 2024 than they did in 2019. Fragility continues to aggravate humanitarian crises, entrenching extreme poverty.

5. Further episodes of financial stress are a serious risk to the global economy

Several large banks in advanced economies have failed this year. More—and more disorderly—bank failures represent a key risk. The negative effects would be greatest if banking turmoil were to escalate into a systemic crisis, transmitted around the world via cross-border financial linkages. This would result in a severe downturn in the global economy in 2024—global growth could decline to just 0.3 percent. A severe credit crunch confined mostly to advanced economies would do lesser though still serious damage, reducing global growth in 2024 to 1.3 percent.

THE FORECAST BY IMF

Global growth is projected to fall from an estimated 3.5 percent in 2022 to 3.0 percent in both 2023 and 2024. While the forecast for 2023 is modestly higher than predicted in the April 2023 World Economic Outlook (WEO), it remains weak by historical standards. The rise in central bank policy rates to fight inflation continues to weigh on economic activity. Global headline inflation is expected to fall from 8.7 percent in 2022 to 6.8 percent in 2023 and 5.2 percent in 2024. Underlying (core) inflation is projected to decline more gradually, and forecasts for inflation in 2024 have been revised upward.

The recent resolution of the US debt ceiling standoff and, earlier this year, strong action by authorities to contain turbulence in US and Swiss banking, reduced the immediate risks of financial sector turmoil. This moderated adverse risks to the outlook. However, the balance of risks to global growth remains tilted to the downside. Inflation could remain high and even rise if further shocks occur, including those from an intensification of the war in Ukraine and extreme weather-related events, triggering more restrictive monetary policy. Financial sector turbulence could resume as markets adjust to further policy tightening by central banks. China's recovery could slow, in part as a result of unresolved real estate problems, with negative cross-border spillovers. Sovereign debt distress could spread to a wider group of economies. On the upside, inflation could fall faster than expected, reducing the need for tight monetary policy, and domestic demand could again prove more resilient.

In most economies, the priority remains achieving sustained disinflation while ensuring financial stability. Therefore, central banks should remain focused on restoring price stability and strengthening financial supervision and risk monitoring. Should market strains materialize, countries should provide liquidity promptly while mitigating the possibility of moral hazard. They should also build fiscal buffers, with the composition of fiscal adjustment ensuring targeted support for the most vulnerable. Improvements to the supply side of the economy would facilitate fiscal consolidation and a smoother decline of inflation toward target levels.

For advanced economies, the growth slowdown projected for 2023 remains significant: from 2.7 percent in 2022 to 1.5 percent in 2023, with a 0.2 percentage point upward revision from the April 2023 WEO. About 93 percent of advanced economies are projected to have lower growth in 2023, and growth in 2024 among this group of economies is projected to remain at 1.4 percent.

- In the United States, growth is projected to slow from 2.1 percent in 2022 to 1.8 percent in 2023, then slow further to 1.0 percent in 2024. For 2023, the forecast has been revised upward by 0.2 percentage point, on account of resilient consumption growth in the first quarter, a reflection of a still-tight labor market that has supported gains in real income and a rebound in vehicle purchases. However, this consumption growth momentum is not expected to last: Consumers have largely depleted excess savings accumulated during the pandemic, and the Federal Reserve is expected to raise rates further.
- Growth in the euro area is projected to fall from 3.5 percent in 2022 to 0.9 percent in 2023, before rising to 1.5 percent in 2024. The forecast is broadly unchanged, but with a change in composition for 2023. Given stronger services and tourism, growth has been revised upward by 0.4 percentage point for Italy and by 1.0 percentage point for Spain. However, for Germany, weakness in manufacturing output and economic contraction in the first quarter of 2023 means that growth has been revised downward by 0.2 percentage point, to –0.3 percent.
- Growth in the United Kingdom is projected to decline from 4.1 percent in 2022 to 0.4 percent in 2023, then to rise to 1.0 percent in 2024. This is an upward revision of 0.7 percentage point for 2023, reflecting stronger-than-expected consumption and investment from the confidence effects of falling energy prices, lower post-Brexit uncertainty (following the Windsor Framework agreement), and a resilient financial sector as the March global banking stress dissipates.
- Growth in Japan is projected to rise from 1.0 percent in 2022 to 1.4 percent in 2023, reflecting a modest upward revision, buoyed by pent-up demand and accommodative policies, then slow to 1.0 percent in 2024, as the effects of past stimuli dissipate.

For emerging market and developing economies, growth is projected to be broadly stable at 4.0 percent in 2023 and 4.1 percent 2024, with modest revisions of 0.1 percentage point for 2023 and –0.1 percentage point for 2024. However, this stable average masks divergences, with about 61 percent of the economies in this group growing faster in 2023 and the rest—including low-income countries and three of the five geographic regions described in what follows—growing more slowly.

- Growth in emerging and developing Asia is on track to rise to 5.3 percent in 2023, then to moderate to 5.0 percent in 2024, reflecting a modest (0.1 percentage point) downward revision for 2024. The forecast for China is unchanged at 5.2 percent for 2023 and 4.5 percent for 2024, but with a change in composition: Consumption growth has evolved broadly in line with April 2023 WEO projections, but investment has underperformed due to the ongoing real estate downturn in that country. Stronger-than-expected net exports have offset some of the investment weakness, although their contribution is declining as the global economy slows. Growth in India is projected at 6.1 percent in 2023, a 0.2 percentage point upward revision compared with the April projection, reflecting momentum from stronger-than-expected growth in the fourth quarter of 2022 as a result of stronger domestic investment.
- Growth in emerging and developing Europe is projected to rise to 1.8 percent in 2023, reflecting a 0.6 percentage point upward revision since April, and to rise further to 2.2 percent in 2024. The forecast for Russia in 2023 has been revised upward by 0.8 percentage point to 1.5 percent, reflecting hard data (on retail trade, construction, and industrial production) that point to a strong first half of the year, with a large fiscal stimulus driving that strength.
- Latin America and the Caribbean is expected to see growth decline from 3.9 percent in 2022 to 1.9 percent in 2023, although this reflects an upward revision of 0.3 percentage point since April, and to reach 2.2 percent in 2024. The decline from 2022 to 2023 reflects the recent fading of rapid growth during 2022 after pandemic reopening, as well as lower commodity prices; the upward revision for 2023 reflects stronger-than-expected growth in Brazil—marked up by 1.2 percentage points to 2.1 percent since the April WEO—given the surge in agricultural production in the first quarter of 2023, with positive spillovers to activity in services. It also reflects stronger growth in Mexico, revised upward by 0.8 percentage point to 2.6 percent, with a delayed post-pandemic recovery in services taking hold and spillovers from resilient US demand.
- Growth in the Middle East and Central Asia is projected to decline from 5.4 percent in 2022 to 2.5 percent in 2023, with a downward revision of 0.4 percentage point, mainly attributable to a steeper-than-expected growth slowdown in Saudi Arabia, from 8.7 percent in 2022 to 1.9 percent in 2023, a negative revision of 1.2 percentage points. The downgrade for Saudi Arabia for 2023 reflects production cuts announced in April and June in line with an agreement through OPEC+ (the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries, including Russia and other non-OPEC oil exporters), whereas private investment, including from “giga-project” implementation, continues to support strong non-oil GDP growth.
- In sub-Saharan Africa, growth is projected to decline to 3.5 percent in 2023 before picking up to 4.1 percent in 2024. Growth in Nigeria in 2023 and 2024 is projected to gradually decline, in line with April projections, reflecting security issues in the oil sector. In South Africa, growth is expected to decline to 0.3 percent in 2023, with the decline reflecting power shortages, although the forecast has been revised upward by 0.2 percentage point since the April 2023 WEO, on account of resilience in services activity in the first quarter.

Forces Shaping the Outlook

The global recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic and Russia's invasion of Ukraine is slowing amid widening divergences among economic sectors and regions.

The World Health Organization (WHO) announced in May that it no longer considers COVID-19 to be a “global health emergency.” Supply chains have largely recovered, and shipping costs and suppliers' delivery times are back to pre-pandemic levels. But forces that hindered growth in 2022 persist. Inflation remains high and continues to erode household purchasing power. Policy tightening by central banks in response to inflation has raised the cost of borrowing, constraining economic activity. Immediate concerns about the health of the banking sector have subsided, but high interest rates are filtering through the financial system, and banks in advanced economies have significantly tightened lending standards, curtailing the supply of credit. The impact of higher interest rates extends to public finances, especially in poorer countries grappling with elevated debt costs, constraining room for priority investments. As a result, output losses compared with pre-pandemic forecasts remain large, especially for the world's poorest nations. Despite these headwinds, global economic activity was resilient in the first quarter of 2023, with that resilience driven mainly by the services sector. The post-pandemic rotation of consumption back toward services is approaching completion in advanced economies (including in tourism-dependent economies of southern Europe), and it accelerated in a number of emerging market and developing economies in the first quarter (Figure 1). However, as mobility returns to pre-pandemic levels, the scope for further acceleration appears more limited.

For 18 AEs, the sample comprises AUS, CAN, CHE, CZE, DEU, DNK, ESP, FRA, GBR, ISR, ITA, KOR, NOR, NZL, SGP, SWE, TWN, and USA. For 16 EMDEs, the sample comprises ARG, BRA, CHL, CHN, COL, HUN, IDN, IND, MEX, MYS, PER, PHL, RUS, THA, TUR, and ZAF. Economy list uses International Organization for Standardization (ISO) country codes. AEs = advanced economies; EMDEs = emerging market and developing economies.

At the same time, nonservices sectors, including manufacturing, have shown weakness, and high-frequency indicators for the second quarter point to a broader slowdown in activity. Amid softening consumption of goods, heightened uncertainties regarding the future geo-economic landscape, weak productivity growth, and a more challenging financial environment, firms have scaled back investment in productive capacity. Gross fixed capital formation and industrial production have slowed sharply or contracted in major advanced economies, dragging international trade and manufacturing in emerging markets with them. International trade and indicators of demand and production in manufacturing all point to further weakness. Excess savings built up during the pandemic are declining in advanced economies, especially in the United States, implying a slimmer buffer to protect against shocks, including those to the cost of living and those from more restricted credit availability.

The fight against inflation continues. Inflation is easing in most countries but remains high, with divergences across economies and inflation measures. Following the buildup of gas inventories in Europe and weaker-than-expected demand in China, energy and food prices have dropped substantially from their 2022 peaks, although food prices remain elevated. Together with the normalization of supply chains, these developments have contributed to a rapid decline in headline inflation in most countries. Core inflation, however, has on average declined more gradually and remains well above most central banks' targets. Its persistence reflects, depending on the particular economy considered, pass-through of past shocks to headline inflation into core inflation, corporate profits remaining high, and tight labor markets with strong wage growth, especially in the context of weak productivity growth that lifts unit labor costs. However, to date, wage-price spirals—wherein prices and wages accelerate together for a sustained period—do not appear to have taken hold in the average advanced economy, and longer-term inflation expectations remain anchored. In response to the persistence of core inflation, major central banks have communicated that they will need to tighten monetary policy further. The Federal Reserve paused rate hikes at its June meeting but signaled further ones ahead, and the Reserve Bank of Australia, Bank of Canada, Bank of England, and European Central Bank have continued to raise rates. At the same time, in some other economies, particularly in East Asia, where mobility curbs during the pandemic restricted demand for services longer than elsewhere, core inflation has remained low. In China, where inflation is well below target, the central bank recently cut policy interest rates. The Bank of Japan has kept interest rates near zero under the quantitative and qualitative monetary easing with yield curve control policy.

Acute stress in the banking sector has receded, but credit availability is tight. Thanks to the authorities' swift reaction, the March 2023 banking scare remained contained and limited to problematic regional banks in the United States and Credit Suisse in Switzerland. Accordingly, since the April 2023 WEO, global financial conditions have eased (Box 1), a sign that financial markets may have become less concerned about risks to financial stability coming from the banking sector. But tight monetary policy continues to put some banks under pressure, both directly (through higher costs of funding) and indirectly (by increasing credit risk). Bank lending surveys in the United States and Europe suggest that banks restricted access to credit considerably in the first quarter of 2023, and they are expected to continue to do so in coming months. Corporate loans have been declining lately, as has commercial real estate lending.

Following a reopening boost, China's recovery is losing steam. Manufacturing activity and consumption of services in China rebounded at the beginning of the year when Chinese authorities abandoned their strict lockdown policies; net exports contributed strongly to sequential growth in February and March as supply chains normalized and firms swiftly put backlogs of orders into production. Nonetheless, continued weakness in the real estate sector is weighing on investment, foreign demand remains weak, and rising and elevated youth unemployment (at 20.8 percent in May 2023) indicates labor market weakness. High-frequency data through June confirm a softening in momentum into the second quarter of 2023.

INDIAN ECONOMY

Weak global demand and the effect of monetary policy tightening to manage inflationary pressures will constrain the economy in FY 2023-24, limiting real GDP growth to 6%. Moderating inflation and monetary policy easing in the second half of 2024 will help discretionary household spending regain momentum. This, along with improved global conditions, will help economic activity to accelerate, with growth of 7% in real GDP in FY 2024-25.

Despite an impressive growth and development record, daunting challenges remain. Creating good jobs is the most promising pathway to reduce poverty, which is particularly high in the female population. Increasing investment in education and vocational training, and updating labour laws, would help to achieve this objective. India is particularly vulnerable to extreme heatwaves and must make progress in mobilizing resources for investment in the green economy.

Moderating demand and high inflation have slowed economic activity FY 2022-23 ended on a positive note, due to higher-than-expected agriculture output and strong government spending. However, high inflation, in particular for energy and food, and the ensuing monetary tightening to anchor expectations are weighing on purchasing power and household consumption, particularly in urban areas. Tighter financial market conditions are reflected in weakening credit-supported demand for capital goods, a good proxy for business investment. The merchandise trade deficit was 40% larger in FY 2022-23 than in FY 2021-22, with trade in petroleum accounting for over two-fifths of the deterioration. Although services export growth remains brisk and the sectoral surplus rose by 35%, it is insufficient to offset the imbalance in goods' trade. Low labour productivity is affecting the competitiveness of "Made in India" goods and participation in global value chains. The current account deficit narrowed in the October-December quarter to 2.2% of GDP, from 2.7% in the same period in FY 2021-22. Headline inflation has fallen below 6% (the central bank's upper bound of the tolerance band) since March 2023, mostly due to lower food prices, as well as base effects. Employment and wage estimates suggest improving labour market conditions in rural areas, while export-oriented service firms report increasing difficulties filling vacancies.

The Notre Dame-Global Adaptation Index is a composite indicator which summarises two sub-indices: 1) a country's vulnerability to climate change and other global challenges and 2) a country's readiness to improve resilience. The index is recalculated based on the best performing country's score (Norway = 100).

Domestic growth prospects are strongly influenced by global developments. India has seized the opportunity of discounted Urals oil, which has increased Russia's share in its energy imports. The sourcing of fertilisers from Russia has also increased considerably, more than doubling in volume in the case of urea. Overall, Indian imports from Russia rose from USD 9.9 billion (1.6% of total imports) in FY 2021-22 to USD 46.2 billion (6.5%) in FY 2022-23.

Macroeconomic policies remain restrictive

Monetary policy is focused on anchoring inflation expectations and bringing headline inflation consistently within the 2-6% tolerance band. A long cycle of policy rate increases came to a halt in April. Following one further small increase, rates are expected to remain unchanged until the end of the calendar year, when evidence will confirm whether core inflation, which is less sensitive to weather conditions and geopolitical tensions, has durably diminished. The projections assume mild interest rate declines from mid-2024.

During the projection period, the priority for fiscal policy is to control government debt, so as to keep it at sustainable levels, reduce interest payments, and thereby free resources for public investment in physical and human capital and initiatives to adapt to population aging. The Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Anna Yojana scheme provided free foodgrains to eligible beneficiaries during the pandemic, but targeting was imprecise – as testified by the number of beneficiaries (820 million), well in excess of most estimates of the poor population (between 400 and 500 million) – and the cost excessive. Its suppression in 2023 reinforces the need to update the 2011 Census in order to guarantee coverage of eligible families. The next 25 years until the 2047 centenary of Independence will be crucial for India to fight poverty and the government strategy (so-called Amrit Kaal) will require a large increase in capital investment outlays.

The economy will not escape the global slowdown

After reaching 7.2% in FY 2022-23, real GDP growth is expected to slow to 6% in FY 2023-24, before rising to 7% in FY 2024-25. While indicators suggest that India's growth is stable for now, headwinds from the impact of rapid monetary policy tightening in the advanced economies, heightened global uncertainty and the lagged impact of domestic policy tightening will progressively take effect. With slower growth, inflation expectations, housing prices and wages will progressively moderate, helping headline inflation converge towards 4.5%. This will allow interest rates to be lowered from mid-2024. The trade restrictions (including export bans on various rice varieties) imposed in 2022 to fight inflation are assumed to be withdrawn. The current account deficit will narrow, reflecting abating import price pressures.

Most risks to the projections are tilted to the downside. While banks' solvency ratios and financial results have improved and the authorities have enhanced loan-loss provisioning and established a 'bad bank', any deterioration of banks' asset quality could threaten macro-financial stability. In the run-up to the 2024 elections, fiscal consolidation may be delayed, and the conclusion of trade agreements may become more difficult. A potentially below-normal monsoon season could also impact growth. Declining geopolitical uncertainty, on the other hand, would boost confidence and benefit all sectors, as would a faster-than-expected conclusion of free-trade agreements with key partners and the incorporation therein of services.

Climate change and gender gaps require targeted policies

More than half of the Indian population lives in the Indo-Gangetic Plain and is exposed to the increasingly frequent and extreme heatwaves caused by climate change. It is estimated that almost 100 000 extra lives are lost every year due to hot weather and the flooding that can follow. The economic costs are also large, including labour losses, a meagre wheat harvest, greater livestock mortality and power outages. Reducing global greenhouse gas emissions, including in India, will help limit such losses in the long term. However, measures that can immediately reduce the impact of extreme weather events are also needed, such as improved infrastructure to prevent flooding. Sustainable development also requires further progress in gender equality across many dimensions, including access to health, education and capital. Impressive results have been attained, for instance in financial inclusion, but substantial gaps remain. Policy formulation and execution should fully incorporate gender considerations and specific indicators. Enhanced policy efforts to increase childcare assistance, vocational training and life-long education for working women would also be welcome. Better enforcement of the land rights of women would strengthen their economic position and, by making it possible to use this asset as collateral, may also facilitate investments in climate mitigation and adaptation.

Road Ahead

In the second quarter of FY 2022-23, the growth momentum of the first quarter was sustained, and high-frequency indicators (HFIs) performed well in July and August of 2022. India's comparatively strong position in the external sector reflects the country's generally positive outlook for economic growth and rising employment rates. India ranked fifth in foreign direct investment inflows among the developed and developing nations listed for the first quarter of 2022.

India's economic story during the first half of the current financial year highlighted the unwavering support the government gave to its capital expenditure, which, in FY 2022–23 (until August 2022), stood 46.8% higher than the same period last year. The ratio of revenue expenditure to capital outlay decreased from 6.4 in the previous year to 4.5 in the current year, signaling a clear change in favour of higher-quality spending. Stronger revenue generation as a result of improved tax compliance, increased profitability of the company, and increasing economic activity also contributed to rising capital spending levels.

Despite the continued global slowdown, India's exports climbed at the second highest rate this quarter. With a reduction in port congestion, supply networks are being restored. The CPI-C and WPI inflation reduction from April 2022 already reflects the impact. In August 2022, CPI-C inflation was 7.0%, down from 7.8% in April 2022. Similarly, WPI inflation has decreased from 15.4% in April 2022 to 12.4% in August 2022. With a proactive set of administrative actions by the government, flexible monetary policy, and a softening of global commodity prices and supply-chain bottlenecks, inflationary pressures in India look to be on the decline overall.

GLOBAL SERVER MARKET

Despite a huge decline in unit demand, the server market continued experiencing strong spending growth in the second quarter of 2023 with 3.4% y/y growth, driven by high ASP growth, mostly related to higher than usual GPU server shipments to hyperscalers.

The market faces continued challenges heading into the second half of 2023, including remnants of impact from the pandemic, historically high inflation, slowdown in economic activity, supply chain disruption and geopolitical conflict. However, the server market has proven very resilient in recent years, as IT infrastructure has become increasingly mission critical for many organizations.

While the nature of investment and workload choices may be impacted by economic and other pressures, overall, the market is expected to grow over the next five years at an 8.9% CAGR. An aging installed base is primed for refresh, and some of this may have already happened in 2022, although increasingly it appears that some of it may spread into early 2024, as the tech transition to new CPU platforms gradually moves forward. Large cloud service providers will continue their refresh and expansion plans steadily through 2027. An expected digestion phase of excess inventory may be masked by additional investments in new deployment themes such as GPU server infrastructure for AI, although there may have been steps taken towards reduction in excess capacity by some hyperscalers already.

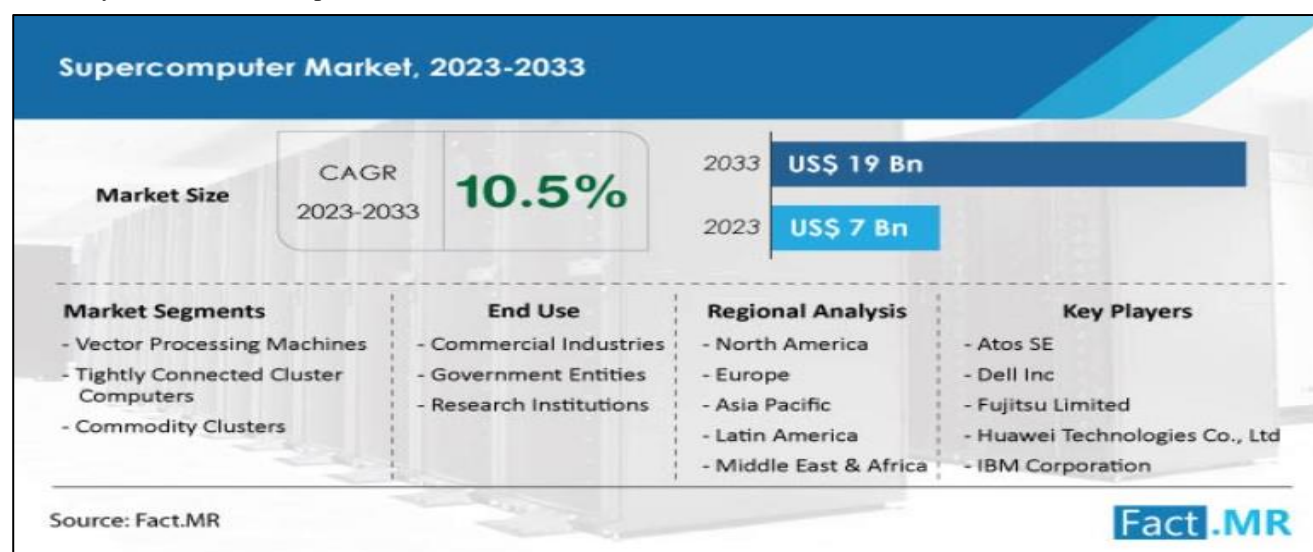

The war between Russia and Ukraine continues to impact the market in both direct and indirect ways. In the most direct way, system sales in Russia and Ukraine continued shrinking throughout 2023 and will continue to drive the decline in the overall CEE region. Indirectly, the war added to already growing energy prices and transportation costs, which have a rippling impact on the IT industry, especially on regions that historically relied more on energy resources from Russia. Cutting energy supply worsens already declining consumer and business confidence. This has driven higher demand for energy efficient and sustainable systems, which is also expected to be a longer-term trend across all regions. Direct impact of inflation on servers was felt more strongly each subsequent quarter during 2022, with year over year ASP growth rates escalating to 29.0% year over year in the second quarter of 2023, while unit growth, which had been in the teens through most of 2022, dropped to a meager +1.4% in 2022Q4, declined year over year in 2023Q1 by -10.0%, and now by -19.9% in 2023Q2.

GLOBAL SUPERCOMPUTER MARKET OUTLOOK

The global supercomputer market is projected to increase at an impressive CAGR of 10.5% and hit a valuation of US$ 19 billion by the end of 2033, up from US$ 7 billion in 2023.

In comparison to a general-purpose computer, a supercomputer is a high-performance computer. Supercomputer performance is measured in FLOPS (Floating-Point Operations Per Second) rather than MIPS (Million Instructions Per Second). Supercomputers are employed in computation-intensive and data-intensive technological and scientific applications such as biomechanics, quantum theory, fossil fuel extraction, weather prediction, molecular dynamics, cryptanalysis, nuclear fusion research, and physical simulations.

- The number of supercomputers in the world is growing. China currently possesses 167 of the world's 500 supercomputers, while the United States has 122.

The growing use of supercomputers in the research and development of drugs and increased biotechnology adoption is likely to fuel the market growth during the forecast period. Supercomputers were extensively used to create drugs to combat the COVID-19 pandemic. Supercomputers were employed to scan a massive data volume in a few milliseconds to evaluate the coronavirus's nature and check if any components in existing medications could tackle the virus.

- For example, as part of the European Union-funded EXSCALATE4CoV project in 2020, Sanzio and his Cineca team cooperated with 15 other partners and 24 associated members across Europe. To research the safest coronavirus treatments, the effort brought together four supercomputer platforms in Spain, Germany, and Italy, as well as Europe's leading pharmaceutical corporations and academic institutions. Due to the high-performance computing capacity of supercomputers and the combined capabilities of the project members, the research was completed in a matter of months. The consortium's supercomputers had already examined the interaction of the coronavirus with 400,000 medicinal compounds by the middle of 2020 to see which one could kill the virus and prevent it from growing.
- In November 2020, the two Italian supercomputers, ENI's HPC5 and Cineca's Marconi-100, performed their most challenging work. In approximately 60 hours, they examined over 70 billion medicinal chemicals.

Moreover, major companies' increased efforts in the research and development of supercomputers are bolstering market growth.

- For example, Aurora, a supercomputer created in suburban Chicago by Intel in collaboration with the US Department of Energy's Argonne National Laboratory for AI research, will be two times faster than projected. As per Intel, the computer will be capable of doing two quintillion computations per second.

Why are Supercomputers Attracting So Much Attention?

1. “Rising Demand for High-Processing Power”

Rising demand for high processing power is increasing the sales of supercomputers. High processing power refers to the processing needed to manage and process data to evaluate it and make decisions.

Governments throughout the world are investing in high-end projects that necessitate high-performance computing systems, leading to a rise in supercomputer demand.

- For example, the National Center for Atmospheric Research-USA revealed a $35 million plan in January 2021 to start a powerful new supercomputer to study phenomena such as climate change, solar storms, and extreme weather events.
- The UK government announced in February 2020 a £1.2 billion ($1.26 billion) investment in the world's most advanced and powerful weather and climate supercomputer to enhance extreme weather and climate prediction.

As a result, the rising demand for high processing power is boosting the sales of supercomputers.

2. “Increasing Usage of Cloud Technology”

Supercomputers significantly contribute to a country's scientific growth and national security. Supercomputing centers are widely using cloud services to manage workloads and security. The cloud service runs parallel programs that do not need a highly specialized infrastructure. Nevertheless, more advanced applications are projected to run on the cloud in the future years.

For example, Cray, a supercomputer manufacturer based in the United States, collaborated with Microsoft to install its devices and storage systems on the Azure Cloud platform. Customers can operate their most strategic workloads in Microsoft Azure's cloud service by using Microsoft Azure.

Country-wise Insights

- Asia Pacific held 46% share of the worldwide market for supercomputers in 2022. In terms of technology, Asia Pacific has been quickly expanding. Countries such as South Korea and Japan have played a significant role in the region's rapid rise of supercomputing systems.

Japan, which has roughly 33 of the world's 500 most powerful supercomputers, including the K computer, is the key contributor to the Asia Pacific market. Japan's flagship 2020 initiative led to the investment of more than US$ 1 billion in developing more effective systems than the country's K computer. Japan's Fugaku supercomputer was unveiled in August 2022 to research new medications and predict catastrophic weather conditions.

As per a French-Korean Conference report, South Korea intends to develop one of the five quickest exascale supercomputers by 2030, possibly using local processors.

Such advancements in Japan and South Korea are boosting the Asia Pacific market.

- The North American market is predicted to experience considerable growth during the forecast period. The United States is second in the world in terms of supercomputers, with 122 of the total 500 supercomputers currently in operation. Moreover, American companies are making significant expenditures in research and development, which is likely to support market growth.

For example, NVIDIA and IBM constructed Summit, a new supercomputer faster than Titan, the fastest supercomputer in North America.

- The European market is expected to increase at a steady pace during the forecast period. Germany is leading the European market.

Germany is home to 9 of the world's 500 supercomputers, including the previous national standard setters, the SuperMUC-NG in Munich (number 15), and the Hawk in Stuttgart (number 16).

The Cloud System Management market industry is projected to grow from USD 2.34 Billion in 2023 to USD 5.59 billion by 2032, exhibiting a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 11.50% during the forecast period (2023 - 2032). Rapidly implementing virtualized workloads and improved productivity in the workplace are the key market drivers enhancing market growth.

Market CAGR for cloud system management is driven by the rising the increasing demand for cloud services that streamline the administration of heterogeneous cloud infrastructures and the increased popularity of hybrid and multi-cloud strategies among enterprises of all sizes and industries. Increased interest in cloud-based technologies from a wide range of industries is helping to fuel the growth of the cloud systems management software market.

With AIOps capabilities, businesses have access to a plethora of tools for automating their IT operations. Organizations are being encouraged to use AIOps solutions due to their capacity for root cause investigation, anomaly identification, and enhanced actionable insights. Companies that adopt AIOps solutions can foresee potential problems and prepare for them. These products assist businesses avoid the expenses caused with application and infrastructure failures. With the use of AIOps systems, businesses can automation alert distribution, problem tracking, and information-sharing. Additionally, in recent years, many businesses have invested a sizable percentage of their profits in their IT infrastructure.

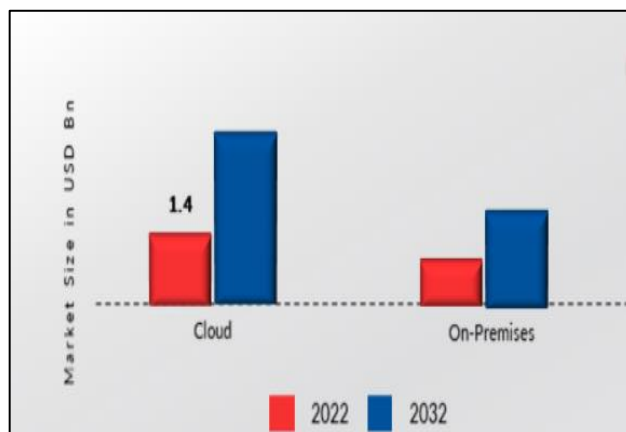

Additionally, Cost reduction, ease of management, dependability, flexibility, and strategic advantage are just a few ways cloud-based system solutions aid businesses. Also, corporations are hesitant to shift data to the cloud and instead choose on-premises infrastructure to keep critical information due to concerns over privacy and security. There have been many breakthroughs and innovations in cloud computing, but the biggest challenges have been security and interoperability.

For instance, Microsoft has introduced a healthcare-specific cloud service. Caregiver productivity and doctor-patient bonds can both benefit from this innovation. As a result, it is anticipated that demand for Cloud System Management will increase throughout the projection period due to the rising technology rate. Thus, the driving factor of the Cloud System Management market revenue.

CLOUD COMPUTING GLOBAL MARKET OUTLOOK

The Cloud Computing Market size is expected to grow from USD 0.58 trillion in 2023 to USD 1.24 trillion by 2028, at a CAGR of 16.40% during the forecast period (2023-2028).

Global demand for cloud computing is growing because of emerging technologies like big data, AI, and machine learning (ML). Also, increased focus on customer-centric applications to boost consumer satisfaction is one element impacting the rise of emerging technologies.

- Cloud-based infrastructure provides flexible, on-demand access to the resources underlying these new digital business solutions. The technology is beneficial for enterprise resource planning (ERP), online transaction processing (OLTP), and supply chain management (SCM) across sectors. For example, IBM is shifting to SAP S/4HANA®, SAP's next-generation ERP software, to execute work spanning more than 120 countries, 1,000 legal entities, and multiple IBM businesses covering software, hardware, consulting, and finance.

- Companies are transforming towards implementing hybrid cloud in their business environment. Agility is the hybrid cloud's main advantage. Companies are integrating public, private, and on-premises resources to acquire agility and competitive advantage. For instance, Microsoft's Azure Arc hybrid and multi-cloud management solution have undergone public improvements, as well as its interactions with the Azure Machine Learning (ML) and Azure Kubernetes Service (AKS) services. Customers can develop apps and services that work across data centers, the edge, and several clouds by expanding the Azure platform.
- Organizations increasingly need solutions that enable employees to operate remotely safely and productively. To enable remote work for normal employees, contact center agents, and creative professionals, providers offer specialized solutions based on their clouds in a secure, timely and affordable manner. For instance, Zscaler recently unveiled the Cloud-Native Application Protection Platform (CNAPP), a new Posture Control solution that runs on AWS. The company's new CNAPP platform enables DevOps and security teams to accelerate cloud adoption while lowering operational complexity and overhead by replacing numerous point security products with a single, integrated platform.
- Cloud computing is a technology that provides platforms, software, and infrastructure on demand, making it prone to various kinds of data breaches. If customers are certain that security measures are in place, they will raise security concerns about outsourcing their data to public cloud services. Although cloud service providers work hard to protect their client's data, there have been enough data breach events to cause problems for even the most well-known businesses. For example, A security failure at Flagstar Bank, a US banking institution, has exposed the personal information of up to 1.5 million customers.
- One of the biggest changes in the workplace was witnessed because of the pandemic. COVID-19 has transformed many employees' working scenarios, and many still work from home. Thereby, they must communicate and collaborate online. Thus, cloud computing is crucial to effectively tackle the difficulty of working from home. cloud computing has acted as the main catalyst for digital transformation. Furthermore, cloud computing technology aided in delivering excellent healthcare services during a lockdown situation.

INDIAN SERVER MARKET

The Indian data center sector is currently in a dynamic phase, marked by impressive growth and substantial government support. In 2023, India's data center market is forecasted to achieve revenues of approximately US$7.44 billion, with network infrastructure emerging as the dominant segment, valued at US$5.09 billion. In 2022, the data center capacity in India was at 637 MW.

India is ranked the 13th largest data center market in the world with 138 data centers. Additionally, 45 new data centers with a combined 13 million square feet and 1,015 MW of capacity are scheduled to be developed by the end of 2025.

Data center businesses in India are positioned for consistent annual expansion, with an expected compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.84 percent, propelling the market size to an estimated US$9.27 billion by 2027.

The substantial growth potential in India's data center sector is fueled by the demands of the IT sector and global capability centers (GCC), the expanding digital economy encompassing social media, e-commerce, digital transactions, online gaming, and streaming services, as well as the shift towards hybrid workplaces. This presents significant investment opportunities for businesses providing top-tier data center infrastructure and services.

Growing Adoption of Big Data Driving Market Growth

Owing to increased internet speed and an increase in internet users, a lot of data has been generated over time and social media usage has expanded. Healthcare, BFSI, education, and the hospitality sectors are just a few of the businesses that are being impacted by the growth of data. Technology advancements and initiatives to undergo a digital transformation are driving this trend. The demand for servers to manage and store data is increasing as a result of the trend toward digitalization. Data centers will therefore be more necessary to store the created data. As these servers are integrating automated facilities as a result of technological advancements, their operators are likely to buy incredibly sophisticated servers that can be managed remotely.

Increasing Usage of Cloud Services Driving India Server Market

In order to stop the spread of COVID-19, India went into lockdown. This led to the country's remote working policy, which has been substantially backed by cloud computing solutions and enables employees to do jobs effectively from any place. On the cloud, such as businesses and governments can effectively handle a lot of data. These cloud services are, however, quite vulnerable to issues such as incorrect storage configuration, insufficient identity and access management safeguards, unsafe application programming interfaces (APIs), data loss, breaches, and leaks. These concerns will increase in importance as more businesses adopt cloud computing models, which is likely to spur development in the installation of suitable servers and the construction of suitable data centers. IoT is one of the most crucial connections for sensor and cloud server communication.

Growth of Sensor and IoT Controlled Environment is Driving the Market

As there are currently many new technologies and in-office sensors being used for servers, the future generation of advanced sensors will be able to regulate, automate, detect, and maintain many operations that will generate a lot of data. Similar to how the Internet of Things (IoT) has been quickly embraced by a variety of industries nationwide, many activities are moving to the cloud and require data storage. IoT is one of the most crucial connections for sensor and cloud server communication. As all the devices are IoT-connected, the cloud servers can easily coordinate their operations, and all the data is safely stored on servers, leading to a rise in demand for servers.

Government Initiatives

To open data centers (servers) in various states, the Indian government is considering a number of projects. For example, the UP-Data Center Policy FY2021 established a target investment of INR 20,000 Crores (USD 2.5 Billion) for the development of the 250MW data center industry. The establishment of data centers (servers) in all state areas will be made possible by this. The way we live is changing quickly as a result of technology and data has evolved into a fundamental requirement for urbanization. With more than 1 billion mobile devices and 45 million internet users, India's data center growth is outpacing that of the rest of the world. As a result of this initiative, other parts of India will start investing in the production of servers, which will drive the expansion of the country's server market.

Market Segmentation

The India Server Market is segmented based on hardware, operating system, end user, region, and company. based on hardware, the market is further fragmented into rack server, blade server, tower server. Moreover, segmentation of the market on grounds of operating system is done into Linux, Windows, iOS, and Others. Based on end user, the market is divided into IT & ITeS, government, telecommunications, BFSI, and others. Based on regional analysis, the market is divided into North, South, East, and West.

MAKING INDIA A GLOBAL HUB FOR DATA CENTRE AND CLOUD SOLUTIONS

Digital commerce, digital entertainment, and social media use in India have grown at an exponential rate. India's mobile data consumption is already the highest in the world and is steadily rising. To meet the country's expanding needs, data centres must expand rapidly due to the magnitude of India's digital population and the fast-rising trajectory of its digital economy. The recent explosion of data from smartphones, e-commerce, social networking sites, digital education, digital payments, and many other digital business services has contributed to the remarkable expansion of the Indian data centre market. Currently, India has 80+ third-party data centres, with a total count of around 130+ data centres, which is expected to grow in the future years as India tries to become a genuinely digital economy. The rapid growth of internet users, the tremendous emergence of startups, the rapid use of cloud computing, and the government's investment in the IT sector are all significant drivers of digital and economic progress in India. Favourable market factors in India, such as low internet and data plan costs, high demand and low supply, and an immature market, have demonstrated enormous potential growth.

India's data centre industry was worth US$ 4.4 billion in 2020. Furthermore, by 2026, the Indian data centre industry is expected to rise by US$ 8.0 billion. The Indian Public Cloud Services (PCS) market is anticipated to reach US$ 13.5 billion, increasing at a compound annual growth rate of 24% between 2021-26. With the explosion of data-intensive technologies such as Big Data, IoT, the demand for data collection and storage is increasing exponentially, resulting in the growth of the Indian data centre market, which is currently valued at US$ 1.5 billion and is expected to grow at 11.4% CAGR. The digital economy in India is expected to increase from US$ 200 billion in 2017-18 to an outstanding US$ 1 trillion by 2025.

Data Centre and Cloud Solutions Industry in India

A Data Centre is a specialised secure room within a centralised location where computing and networking equipment is concentrated for the purpose of gathering, storing, processing, distributing, or enabling access to massive volumes of data. Cloud service providers store their IT infrastructure in Data Centres to deliver Cloud Computing services to end customers. A cloud service provider is a third-party company that provides a cloud-based platform, infrastructure, application, or storage service. Examples include Google Cloud Services, Microsoft Azure, and Amazon Web Services.

The cloud is the foundation of digital transformation, and the data centres are the foundation of cloud services. Cloud service providers are heavy users of data centre colocation space. Beyond their own build, CSPs are one of the major users of external data centre services. Over the last three years, hyper scalers have consumed over 60% of data centre capacity, and their thirst is only expanding. Additionally, the CSPs require edge data centres to link with carriers and, via the telecom service providers, to businesses and end consumers. For the CSPs to be able to offer the needed level of services, all under 1 millisecond of latency with appropriate redundancy for 99.99% uptime, interconnected data centres in other cities are crucial.

India is the world's 13th largest data centre market, with 138 data centres. And by the end of 2025, it is anticipated that 45 new data centres with a combined 13 million square feet and 1,015 MW of capacity will be built. In 2021, India's data centre industry was estimated to be worth US$ 4.35 billion. It is anticipated to increase by 132% in just six years, to US$

10.09 billion, by 2027. By the end of 2022, India would have more than 700 million internet users, nearly double the number in the United States.

India is also concentrating on boosting electricity capacity through solar, hydroelectric, and wind, which will draw both domestic and global firms to the Indian data centre sector. The government of India is developing a data centre policy to attract investments and increase the country's current rate of data centre expansion. Along with the establishment of data centre economic zones and Data Centre Facilitation Units (DCFU), the incorporation of data centres under the Essential Services Maintenance Act (ESMA), and the development of a distinct category code for data centres under the National Building Code of India are all included in this plan. It also includes plans to use renewable energy sources to reduce carbon footprint. According to Crisil India, data centre capacity in India is predicted to increase by more than double to 1,700-1,800 megawatts (MW) by fiscal 2025, up from 870 MW last fiscal year, due to the data boom, digital adoption, and local data storage laws. In order to achieve this, an investment of more than US$ 4.84 billion (Rs. 40,000 crore) would be necessary.

Cloud Computing Indian Market

India cloud computing market size was estimated at USD 6.47 billion in 2022. During the forecast period between 2023 and 2029, the India cloud computing market size is projected to grow at a CAGR of 18.37% reaching a value of USD 17.8 billion by 2029. The market growth is mainly driven by surging adoption of digital transformation strategies by businesses seeking enhanced efficiency and competitiveness. Businesses and individuals are realizing the benefits of using cloud services, which allow them to store and access data, run software, and collaborate online without needing to invest in and manage complex IT infrastructure. The cloud provides flexibility, cost savings, and the ability to scale resources up or down as needed. With the increasing demand for remote work solutions, digital transformation, and online services, more companies are embracing cloud technology to stay competitive and meet the changing needs of their customers. This shift is reshaping how we use technology and do business, contributing to the continued expansion of the cloud computing market in India.

Increasing Demand for Data Storage and Processing

The remarkable surge in the demand for data storage and processing capabilities stands as a pivotal driver propelling the rapid growth trajectory of the cloud computing market in India. This escalating demand is precipitated by a convergence of transformative technological forces, including the exponential proliferation of data-intensive applications, the advent of big data analytics, the pervasive integration of Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Machine Learning (ML) across sectors, the dynamic expansion of the Internet of Things (IoT) ecosystem, and the paradigm shift towards remote work and collaboration. Cloud computing emerges as the indispensable solution to address these multifaceted challenges, offering a scalable and agile infrastructure that accommodates the colossal volumes of data generated while facilitating seamless processing, analysis, and extraction of actionable insights. This trend reflects an overarching recognition by businesses and organizations in India of the imperative to harness the potential of data as a strategic asset, thereby driving a profound transformation in industries ranging from e-commerce and finance to healthcare and telecommunications. As a result, the cloud computing market in India experiences a momentous surge, contributing significantly to the nation's technological advancement and economic growth.

Emerging technology trends

- Smart data centres

Smart data centres provide the necessary infrastructure, platforms, and computing capabilities to enable organisations to remain agile and embrace change. National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) plans to establish Smart Data Centres in Hyderabad and Chennai.

- Eco-Smart Future

Servers are stored in a climate-controlled space with carefully regulated humidity and temperature conditions. Since each rack utilises more energy and produces more heat, cooling systems have to work harder to maintain safe and effective operations. Cloud computing can save billions of dollars in energy expenses and millions of metric tonnes of carbon emissions if the cloud data centre is situated in a location that has adequate renewable energy sources. Therefore, India has the potential to become a global powerhouse for green data centres.

- Networking

Networking capabilities within servers are also transitioning from standard Network Interface cards (NIC) to smart NIC, providing for hardware-level processing capabilities.

- Compute

The industry is witnessing a transition towards Graphical Processing Units (GPU) and Programmable Processing Units (PPU) by utilising Field Programmable Gate Array (FPGA), which allows hardware developers to programme these units to a given application and use cases, offering push to AI/ ML.

Investment Landscape

- In May 2023, Adani to invest more than US$ 2.42 billion (Rs. 20,000 crore) to build India's first integrated data centre and tech biz park in Andhra Pradesh, hosting a 300 MW of data centre capacity.
- Global titans including NTT, Google, Microsoft, and Amazon, as well as L&T, and Hiranandani Group, have plans to build new data centres in the nation or expand their current ones. Around 4,900-5,000 MW of data centre capacity is likely to be built in the next six years, including investments of up to US$ 18.16 (Rs. 1.5 lakh crore).
- One of the top hyper-scalers has plans to invest more than US$ 2 billion in Hyderabad to build two data centres.
- A Japanese corporation has also announced plans to invest over US$ 2 billion in India over the next four years, citing India's booming data centre sector.
- Another factor contributing to the growth of the Indian DC market is the increased demand for colocation data centres in both global and local organisations. As a result, over ten colocation providers will make major investments in the Indian DC market in 2021.
- A major Indian telecommunications company has announced plans to spend US$ 605.29 million (Rs. 5,000 crore) to construct seven hyper-scale data centres, which will triple its capacity and help India establish itself as a regional data centre hub.
- Another major telecommunication company also intended to invest US$ 950 million in the construction of a data centre in Uttar Pradesh.
- The Indian government has proposed an incentive system to stimulate the establishment of data centres. Additionally, the government intends to invest more than US$ 1 billion over the course of the following five years as part of a hyper-scale data centre plan.

Road Ahead

India is undergoing a shift from an emerging to a developed market economy, and technology is expected to play a critical part in this transition. Digital transformation is not only catalysing economic growth across all sectors, but it also serves as the foundation for improved citizen service delivery, enabling social and financial inclusion, increasing productivity, and contributing to the creation of a linked ecosystem. The data processing and storage market is expected to rise from US$ 56 billion in 2020 to US$ 90 billion by 2025. The amount of data collected daily is increasing dramatically in a digitally connected society. Organisations and enterprises rely more than ever on data collection and the associated Information and Technology (IT) infrastructure. As reliance on data grows, so does the demand for robust, dependable, scalable, and sustainable data centres. The government of India is encouraging the data centre business, and in addition to local players, many international data centre, and cloud service providers are establishing their footprints in India.

The Indian government has taken massive steps by launching initiatives such as the National eGovernance Plan (NeGP) and the Digital India initiative to transform and boost the country's digital capabilities, with a focus on leveraging digital technologies in various sectors such as education, healthcare, e-commerce, industrial, and agriculture. The use of cutting-edge technology, such as quantum computing, artificial intelligence, the Internet of Things, etc., has further encouraged data expansion. The introduction of a bigger number of Special Economic Zones (SEZs), Software Technology Parks (STPs), bolstering skills development and an entrepreneurial ecosystem, and providing different tax and non-tax incentives in these cities may help to strengthen India's digital economy. India will be a key hub for the expansion of data centres over the coming ten years since it has the capacity to adopt the multi-cloud era quickly.

2. On the basis of Data Storage and Management

a) Data Storage Solutions

Data storage is the recording (storing) of information (data) in a storage medium. Handwriting, phonographic recording, magnetic tape, and optical discs are all examples of storage media. Biological molecules such as RNA and DNA are considered by some as data storage. Recording may be accomplished with virtually any form of energy. Electronic data storage requires electrical power to store and retrieve data.

We understand that data is the lifeblood of the business, the foundation upon which all other activities are built. With over a decade of expertise in handling Data Storage systems, we specialize in petabyte-scale data migrations across various platforms and storage devices, ensuring minimal inconvenience to users.

Esconet provides Tailor based Storage Solutions as per the requirements of our client. We understand the need of our customer and accordingly delivers the best suited network access protocols for specific environment.

Types of Data Storage Solutions we provide

- Software-Defined Storage

Software-defined storage (SDS) is a storage architecture that separates storage software from its hardware. Unlike traditional network-attached storage (NAS) or storage area network (SAN) systems, SDS is generally designed to perform on any industry-standard or x86 system, removing the software's dependence on proprietary hardware.

- File and Object Storage

File storage is a traditional method of storing and organizing data, where information is stored in a hierarchical structure of directories and files. Each file is assigned a unique name and can contain any type of data, such as text, images, videos, and more. The file system organizes these files into folders, enabling users to easily navigate and access the stored data.

Object storage is a newer approach to data storage that organizes data as discrete units called objects. Each object contains the data itself, along with metadata (e.g., file name, type, size, creation date), stored as a unique identifier within a flat namespace.

Esconet specializes in deploying cutting-edge protocols for file and object storage applications. Our expertise encompasses renowned protocols such as NFS, SMB, and S3. Additionally, we excel in implementing systems built on parallel file systems, achieving exceptional throughputs exceeding an impressive 40 gigabytes per second.

b) Data Backup Solutions

Data backup refers to the process of creating copies of important files, documents, or other digital information to protect against accidental deletion, hardware failure, data corruption, cyber-attacks, or other unforeseen events that could result in data loss. The purpose of data backup is to ensure that critical information can be restored and accessed in the event of a disaster or data loss event.

Having a robust data backup strategy is crucial for both individuals and organizations to safeguard their important data and ensure business continuity in case of data loss. It's important to regularly test backups, ensure they are up to date, and have a disaster recovery plan in place to quickly restore data when needed.

Key Features of our Backup Solutions

c) Automated Disaster Recovery Solutions

Automated Disaster Recovery Solutions (ADR) refer to technologies and processes that automate the recovery of IT systems, data, and applications after a disaster or disruptive event. These solutions are essential for ensuring business continuity and minimizing downtime in the event of a natural disaster, cyberattack, hardware failure, or any other disruptive incident.

By automating the disaster recovery process, these solutions enable businesses to restore operations quickly, minimize data loss, and maintain business continuity, ultimately reducing the impact of disasters on the organization.

The key components used in our operations assemblies using surface mount technology, chassis, microprocessors, hard disk drives, dynamic RAM, Network cards, RAID Controllers, Network Interface cards, HBA, GPUs and Solid State Drives. We have a robust supplier network which includes vendors, in India and overseas. We also rely on imports of certain components such as chassis, PCB, memory, Solid State Disk from overseas vendors. We have comprehensive documented procedures for vendor selection and certification. We also conduct periodic audits to ensure compliance with our quality standards and specifications.

OUR SERVICES AND THE SOLUTIONS WE PROVIDE

Our company, operating through its wholly owned subsidiary, ZeaCloud Services Private Limited, specializes in providing a comprehensive range of cloud-based services to meet various business needs which includes below mentioned services but not limited to the following:

- Disaster Recovery as a Service

Disaster recovery as a service (DRaaS) is a cloud computing service model offered by third-party vendors that provides failover in the event of a natural catastrophe, power outage or other type of business disruption.

DRaaS offers an off-site disaster recovery (DR) capability that lets customers avoid the cost of maintaining secondary data centers. The approach has opened DR to organizations that wouldn't have been able to afford such a capability in the past.

DRaaS is useful for the following types of disasters:

- Power outages
- Equipment failures
- Cyber attacks
- Fire Disaster
- Natural Disasters such as floods, hurricanes or earthquakes

ZeaCloud's Disaster Recovery as a Service (DRaaS) comprises dependable and trusted disaster recovery solutions that support almost all applications & workload cases, delivering an affordable and effective data replication service to keep the business up and running at all times.

We help the clients cloud systems stay resilient to any business disruption caused by unpredictable & sudden natural catastrophes like earthquakes, fires, floods, storms, etc. Disaster Recovery as a Service is an essential & proactive critical business plan inclusion to ensure that no natural calamity compromises your core operations and efficiencies.

A robust DRaaS solution not only ensures basic business continuity and efficiency in processes like billing and financial management, but also seamless daily operations in industry-specific functions such B2C retail and e-commerce, or healthcare. 24X7 data availability is extremely crucial in healthcare operations where access to patient data is essential to administering timely, life-saving treatments. We can also offers and delivers tailored, efficient, and cost-effective solutions for any industry or vertical.

- Private Cloud

Private Clouds are cloud environments solely dedicated to the end user, usually within the user's firewall. Although private clouds traditionally ran on-premise, organizations are now building private clouds on rented, vendor-owned data centers located off-premise. All clouds become private clouds when the underlying IT infrastructure is dedicated to a single customer with completely isolated access.

Our Private Cloud solutions offer a combination of the security and control of single-tenancy cloud environment that you need for mission-critical systems while also delivering the economic viability and resiliency of public cloud. Our Private Cloud solutions are designed to meet the needs of different enterprise workloads, such as core banking, ERP and other business applications.

- Managed Cloud Services

Managed cloud services are the partial or complete management and control of a client's cloud platform, including migration, maintenance and optimization. By using a managed cloud service provider, a business can ensure its cloud resources run efficiently. Outsourcing cloud management also allows businesses to avoid new hiring and training costs.

Managed cloud services can provide private, public and hybrid cloud environments. Working with a managed cloud services provider is a collaborative process. To determine the best cloud resources for the user's IT infrastructure, the managed cloud services vendor evaluates the user's applications and data. Then, they'll create a custom plan detailing the steps to build and run an optimized cloud environment.

ZeaCloud Services provide a comprehensive cloud management service to meet the need of today's modern enterprise. As all businesses are not the same, their needs also differ and hence, their cloud management services and strategies must be adaptable and customizable.

As a managed service provider for public cloud, ZeaCloud® offers extensive customizations to ensure scalability and seamless deployment of cloud computing capabilities through an integrated approach:

- Rapid cloud deployments configured and tailored to your business needs
- Enhanced compliance and security features

- Scalability and agility with pay-as-you-go models
- Continuous guidance from planning cloud infrastructure strategies to executing them
- Business continuity as a service with ease in dealing with heavy workloads
- Desktop as a Service

Desktop as a Service (DaaS) is a cloud computing offering where a service provider delivers virtual desktops to end users over the Internet, licensed with a per-user subscription. The provider takes care of backend management for small businesses that find creating their own virtual desktop infrastructure to be too expensive or resource-consuming. This management typically includes maintenance, backup, updates, and data storage. Cloud service providers may also handle security and applications for the desktop, or users may manage these service aspects individually.

ZeaCloud's Desktop As A Service (DaaS) brings a fully managed cloud desktop so that the organization can support multiple devices easily, especially to keep up with the work-from-home and remote productivity needs of the time.

The Information Technology (Amendment) Act, 2008, which came into force on October 27, 2009, amended the IT Act and inter-alia gives recognition to contracts concluded through electronic means, creates liability for failure to protect sensitive personal data and gives protection to intermediaries in respect of third-party information liability.

The Personal Data Protection Bill, 2019 (“Bill”)

The Personal Data Protection Bill, 2019 was introduced in Lok Sabha on December 11, 2019. Data Center Policy, 2020

Indian Data Centre market has seen tremendous growth in the past decade, riding on the explosion of data through smartphones, social networking sites, ecommerce, digital entertainment, digital education, digital payments and many other digital businesses / services. This growth in data is further stimulated by adoption of emerging technologies such as quantum computing, artificial intelligence, internet of things etc. While the Data Centre sector is witnessing growth in the country, there are known impediments to its growth such as lack of infrastructure or Industry status of the Data Centres, complex clearance processes, time consuming approvals, high cost of power, lack of published standards, absence of specialised building norms for building the Data Centres, submarine cable network connectivity limited to few states and high cost of capital and operational expenditure etc. This policy aims to offset these challenges in order to accelerate the current pace of growth and propel India in becoming a global Data Centre hub.

The Copyright Act governs copyright protection in India. Under the Copyright Act, copyright may subsist in original literary, dramatic, musical or artistic works, cinematograph films, and sound recordings.

While copyright registration is not a prerequisite for acquiring or enforcing a copyright, registration creates a presumption favoring ownership of the copyright by the registered owner. Copyright registration may expedite infringement proceedings and reduce delay caused due to evidentiary considerations. Once registered, the copyright protection of a work lasts for 60 years from the beginning of the next calendar year, following the year in which the work is first published.

The remedies available in the event of infringement of a copyright under the Copyright Act include civil proceedings for damages, account of profits, injunction and the delivery of the infringing copies to the copyright owner. The Copyright Act also provides for criminal remedies including imprisonment of the accused and the imposition of fines and seizure of infringing copies.

Illustration of the Book Building and Price Discovery Process: Bidders should note that this example is solely for illustrative purposes and is not specific to the Issue; it also excludes Bidding by Anchor Investors. Bidders can bid at any price within the Price Band. For instance, assume a Price Band of ₹20 to ₹ 24 per share, Issue size of 3,000 Equity Shares and receipt of five Bids from Bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. The illustrative book given below shows the demand for the Equity Shares of the Issuer at various prices and is collated from Bids received from various investors.

Bid Quantity	Bid Amount (₹)	Cumulative Quantity	Subscription
500	24	500	16.67%
1,000	23	1,500	50.00%
1,500	22	3,000	100.00%
2,000	21	5,000	166.67%
2,500	20	7,500	250.00%

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the Issuer is able to Issue the desired number of Equity Shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., ₹ 22.00 in the above example. The Issuer, in consultation with the BRLM, may finalise the Issue Price at or below such Cut-Off Price, i.e., at or below ₹ 22.00. All Bids at or above this Issue Price and cut-off Bids are valid Bids and are considered for allocation in the respective categories.
